

MIAMI DESIGN RESIDENCES

Designed by Chipperfield

At the heart of the Design District, Miami Design Residences, Designed by Chipperfield establishes a new standard for architectural integrity and cultural relevance. This is more than an address—it's a benchmark in design and residential hospitality.

Comprising 140 beautifully appointed homes of one-to-four bedrooms, this unique development offers a rare opportunity to reside within the ultimate monument to cultivated living.

Miami Design Residences is designed by Pritzker Prize-winning architect David Chipperfield, with interiors by RDAI—the Parisian studio behind Hermès' global stores. Landscape architecture by Perry Guillot extends the building's restrained, minimalist aesthetic to the grounds.

Developed by Raycliff Capital, Fort Partners, DACRA, Miami Design District Associates, and Constellation Hotel Holdings, this project establishes a new landmark defined by cultural currency and architectural restraint.

David Chipperfield's architectural language is one of clarity and rigor—bold in form, classical in reference, enduring by design. His work embraces permanence over the transient. Every proportion is calibrated. Every material considered. The result is architecture that anchors rather than announces.

Architecture as Context

At Miami Design Residences, Chipperfield's commitment to permanence and precision shapes a building defined by its context. A colonnade frames the arrival sequence. Stone and glass balance mass with transparency. The façade responds to Miami's changing light as it shifts throughout the day.

David Chipperfield's practice spans cultural institutions and civic landmarks across continents. His projects include the Neues Museum in Berlin—a restoration that earned the EU Prize for Contemporary Architecture; the James Simon Gallery, where a colonnade extends Museum Island's classical language into contemporary form; Museo Jumex in Mexico City, elevated on columns to connect private collection with the public realm; and the America's Cup Building in Valencia, where stacked horizontal planes frame the Mediterranean.

Each project demonstrates a commitment to context, materiality, and architectural restraint that transcends fashion.

“Architecture is not just about buildings, but about creating a sense of place.”

An Elevated Palette

Interiors by RDAI establish presence through scale and materiality. Terrazzo floors and polished plaster walls define the spaces. Glass brick partitions filter light. Fixed furniture and acoustic ceilings complete the composition.

Alive in Luminosity

Bringing clarity and precision to every project, RDAI's design process distills spaces to essential forms, layering refined materials and thoughtful details to create interiors that are both inviting and enduring.

Living spaces are calm, intentional, and shaped by light. Floor-to-ceiling glass opens each residence to natural light and sky, while warm woods, soft neutrals, and organic textures define a sophisticated interior palette.

A Private Retreat

Within the primary suites, cream, sand, and taupe establish a tonal foundation. Natural linen drapery diffuses light. Custom furnishings in timber and rounded forms soften the architecture. Spaces designed for rest and renewal.

GREAT ROOM

A Culinary Canvas

Kitchens at Miami Design Residences are designed as a place to gather, dine, and entertain. Oak and lacquered wood cabinetry with sculptural moldings define the aesthetic. Silestone countertops provide a durable work surface. Curved edges and satin fixtures refine the details. These are focal points where cooking and conversation converge.

The rooftop pool of 70' x 30' offers a new perspective on downtown Miami. Deck spaces and terraces overlook the Intracoastal Waterway and South Beach. Lush greenery provides shade, creating spaces for both collective leisure and private retreat.

THE ROOFTOP POOL

An Urban Oasis

A carefully composed neighborhood spanning less than one square mile, the Miami Design District stands as a masterwork of urban planning — where contemporary architecture is punctuated by flourishing greenery and luscious orchid groves.

Where Culture Thrives

Home to more than 130 art galleries, showrooms, architecture studios, antique dealers, and cultural spaces, the Miami Design District spans NE 36th to 43rd Streets, between North Miami Avenue and Biscayne Boulevard—a rare concentration of creative energy within just a few walkable blocks.

INTERIOR DESIGN

RDAI

RDAI works to transcend the boundaries between architecture, interior architecture and design. RDAI's distinguishing characteristic is its conceptual approach, which involves considering the context, culture and time into which a project is to be born.

The unique character of each of their creations is the result of pure lines, meticulous attention to detail and supreme craftsmanship. Materiality and sensitivity are at the heart of their artistic approach, both in their relationship with materials and the artisans.

LANDSCAPING

PERRY GUILLOT INC.

Perry Guillot Inc. is a landscape architecture firm in Southampton, New York, specializing in design commissions for private clients and historic properties.

Collaborating with architects both modernist and traditionalist—the firm's work shuns stylistic constraints and design trends and is guided more strongly by a site's environmental context and cultural history. These designed landscapes strive for a heightened essence while offering a decided preference for scale and form over textured seasonality.
